A NEW NAME FOR POWDERLY.

SOCIALIST SCHILLING CALLS HIM THE CZAR OF THE KNIGHTS.

The General Assembly in Minneapolis Will Probably Wind Up Its Work Te-Day-Mrs. Powderly Present in the Convention With a Picture of Her Husband-Powder ly's Friends Make Wordy War on Barry.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 19.—The Knights Labor General Assembly, which adns to-day, has not been very benicial to the order. The compromise of the warring factions and the decison important questions has d but a very thin covering over the bed cord among the Knights. The Antiinistration delegates are loud in express-their dissatisfaction. oph Labadie, of Detroit, said this morn Knights had not been expressed officially. clean majority of the delegates, aid he, were opposed to the hanging of the ademned Chicago Aparchists, and yet as a body they were too cowardly to go on ed as disapproving their execution. Their course has been such as to breed couble for the future.

George Schilling, the Chicago Socialist and a delegate to the convention, was even more outspoken in his denunciation of the administration faction and its head.
"The result of this convention," he said, "will be to make Powderly the Czar of the Knights' organization with all that the word implies. The Knights will have to do just as he says without regard to the condition of affairs or the opinions of men. of the Knights' organization with all that the word implies. The Knights will have to do just as he says without regard to the condition of affairs or the opinions of men whose counsel in labor matters ought to be heeded. There is little doubt that the order will be weakened by the outcome of the present convention."

Mr. Powderly has little to say, but regards e work of the convention as very satisfac-

An important piece of legislation was rought about yesterday afternoon which ill go far towards restoring peace between se Knights' organization and the trades nions and preventing the threatened revolt the national trade assemblies. It will also and strongly towards the upbuilding of the rder from the great crafts which have thereto held also from it on account of the migraliation of power in the hands of its meral officers.

Radical changes were made in the new constitution, which will compel the Central Executive Board to issue charters to groups of local assemblies desired to form trade districts and assure to such local assemblies an any release from the superior bodies to which they are attached.

These measures, contrary to the expectations of the trade unionists, were passed without any great opposition from the administrationists, and the former are at a loss to account for it, except by the theory that the administrationists feared a revolt of the powerful trades districts from the order. However, the measures were successfully passed, over, the measures were successfully passed, and the result will be a big boom for the Knights. In addition to this legislation a regular department of woman's work was officially es-ablished, to be presided over by Mrs. Leon-ard Barry, with headquarters to be located in Philadelphia.

ard Barry, with headquarters to be located in Philadelphia.

General Secretary Litchman's proposition to amend the constitution which was reported this morning by the Committee on Law and designed to give him absolute power to hire and discharge clerks in the general office was defeated. Another attempt to remove Messrs. Barry and Bailey from the General Executive Board through a resolution introduced by Delegate Decker, of the Michigan State Assembly, also fell through.

About the only important question now remaining to be settled is the case of expelled carpetworkers, District Assembly No. 126, and this probably will be acted upon to-day. For the past two days the anti-administrationists have shown a much greater strength than before, and judging from the recorded votes of the past two days it is possible that the dissections.

RABRY AND BAILEY ATTACKED.

Towards the close of the day the administrationists, who since yesterday had not been heard before to open his mouth during any of the sessions of the Convention, introduced a series of polished and elaborate resolutions were preceded by a long preamble containing many "whereases," but, they stated, the document set forth about the same, and inamuch as they had refused to tender their resignation as asked for by the General Assembly do hereby shown their contempt for the Knights' organization, the General Assembly do hereby shown their contempt for the Knights' organization during the reading of the resolutions, and as the reader finished the last works agreed uproar ensued. GHARDING THE ERITANNIA Deputy Health Officer Smith Denies tha

There is Cholera on Board. The Quarantine officials to-day indignantly denied the assertions that cases of cholera have been discovered among the passenger on the French steamer Britannia, now detained at Quarantine for observation.

Deputy Health Officer Smith, who was in charge of the Boarding Station when an EVENING WORLD reporter called at Quaran ine this morning, said; "There is abso lutely no foundation, as yet, for the reports that any of have the passengers boy, displaying some evidence of the decease, was removed, but it is prema ture to say that he has cholera, for the Health Officer has not convinced himself that the lad is infected with the disease. This, as far as I know, is the only case of sickness that has been discovered aboard the ship, ing that the session had been an injury to the order and that the real sentiments of the ship arrived. It has been insinuated that we ship arrived. It has been insinuated that we are trying to keep information from the public about the real condition of affairs at Quaractine. This is absurd. When a ship is detained at Quarantine it is at once supposed that she has cholera aboard, but owing to the prevailence of this dreadful scourge in Southern Europe we are determined to exercise every precaution in preventing any ship from carry-ing it into New York or Brooklyn. There-fore we consider it our duty to detain all ves-sels until we are absolutely certain that the passengers are not infected with the closely guarded, and no communication is allowed with either the passengers or the vessel.

The Health Officer feels annoyed at the criticisms which have been made in various quarters on his permiting the Independenti to come to this city and discharge her passengers. This ship, he asserts, in cleanliness and the general health of the passengers bore no comparison to that of the Britannia, which was found to be in a very dirty state. The Independenti was thoroughly clean and has a physician in whom the Health Officer has entire confidence. He said that during the voyage every precaution was taken to prevent an outbreak of the cholera, and no sickness of any kind prevailed during the voyage.

Notwithstanding this, many assert that the Health Officer should have kept the vessel in quarantine. Many of her passengers came from the region of Palermo, where the scourge is making have among its population, and they carried with them a lot of rubbish, which, when it came to Castle Garden, emitted sickening odors. This fact alone, argue some, should have made the Health Officer more cautious in allowing the ship with its load of passengers and dirty baggage to come to the city.

THEY QUARRELLED ABOUT BILLIARDS.

of a Witness to George Bangs's Shot at Politician McWilliams. [SPECIAL TO THE EVENING WORLD.]

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 19.—There is a good deal of excitement here over the killing of William McWilliams by George Bangs, as telegraphed to THE EVENING WORLD yesterday. The men were unfriendly about a debt of day. The men were unfriendly about a debt of over $1,000, growing out of a game of billiards. Samuel Houston, who owns the saloon where the shooting happened, gives these details:

"Bangs came into the saloon and said:
I came up here to avoid meeting Col. Mac Williams, who is hunting for me to-night to kill me." A hack drove up soon after and two gentlemen got out. One of them, who had an umbrella, was talking to Bangs when Col. Mac Williams came along, with his revolver in his hand. Bangs cried out, 'Halt!'

"The word was scarcely uttered before Col. Mac Williams raised his revolver and fired. The shot passed close to Bangs's head. Bangs then pulled his pistol from his pocket and fired at Mac Williams, but the Colonel had thrown himself so that I would be right in his rear. Bangs then shot again three times. Mac Williams started to run, but soon fell down dead. Bangs gave himself up to the Sheriff."

There was a very pretty incident yesterday afternoon when Chairman McGaughey, of the Local Entertainment Committee, brought in a life-size and imagnificently executed portrait of Mr. Powderly. He handed it to Mrs. Leonora Barry, general investigator of women's work, now a general officer, and she, in a beautiful little speech, presented the portrait to Mr. Powderly as a gift to his wife from the General Assembly, explaining that Mrs. Powderly was the first woman admitted to the order of the Knights.

The Assembly applanded enthusiastically. There was great enthusiasm. Mr. Powderly imself was so deeply moved that when he attempted to speak he was choked and blinded by tears. Then cries of "Litchman!" came from various parts of the hall, and Mr. Litchman responded ably. He paid a glowing eulogy to Mr. Powderly, and declared, almost in tears, that if Mr. Powderly's wife was the first woman in the order his own wife was the second.

Standing against the fodder was a pitchfork, the handle of which was broken off, seaving a jagged end. On this the lady was impaled, the broken handle pen-etrating her body at least one foot.

Accused of Forging Checks.

William W. Boag, a neatly dressed young man, son of Edward L. Boag, cierk of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, was taken to the Jeffersou Market Police Court this morning by Detective-Sergeants Brunner and Tossaro, upon a charge of forging checks in his father's name, for $30, $40, $30 and $100. Young Boag was, for a time, em-ployed in a Fourieenth street store. He was re-manded back to Police Headquarters.

THE CENTRAL LABOR UNION TAKES HAND IN THE FIGHT.

Where Non-Union Work Was Done-sympathetic Pressmen to Receive Strike Money-Both Sides Still Claiming the Final Victory-Employers Said to Saffer.

At the regular meeting of the Printing Trades Section of the Central Labor Union last evening, it was decided to co-operate with Typographical Union No. 6, in the present strike, and the support of the sixteen organizations composing the section was pledged. The card-office question was declared a principle in which the section is interested as much as the typographers, A committee, consisting of Delegates Isaac Wood, Albert Rockwell and John T. Burke, was authorized to represent the section.

The section represents about 15,000 men, and includes the Franklin Association of Pressmen and Feeders, Concord Labor Club, Knickerbocker Labor Club, Good-Will Asso-

The first move of the committee was to order out the unionists employed at Jenkins & McCowan's, at the corner of Grand and Centre streets. This house has complied with all the laws of the union and is in good form. But it is doing the Scott presswork for the Century Company, whose men are on strike. About twenty men were ordered out at noon. On the door of the headquarters of the section, No. 250 Grand street, is this notice:

All pressuring out of work one week sustaining All pressuen out of work one week sustaining Typographical Union No. 6 will the next day receive the sum allowed pressmen—understood to be for married men $12 and for single men $7. Of course only those recorded will be allowed pay, and the money will be paid at the headquarters of Isaac Wood, President of Pressmen's Union No. 34.

President Wood stated that he is rapidly finding first-class places for the strikers, and thinks that when the employers are ready to capitulate their men will all have found imployment elsewhere. The Typothetæ and the striking composi-

The Typothete and the striking composi-tors, pressmen and stereotypers made no overtures looking to a settlement of their difficulties this norming. At the rooms of the Typothete in Park Place, Librarian Pasko said that there was no truth in the report that the women had quit work in Trow's office. He received personal applications from five men and sent them to De Vinne's, Trow's and Little's offices. Two of the men were from Philadelphia and the others from Albany, Troy and Burling-ton, Vt. the others from Albany, Trov and Burlington, Vt. A dozen or more letters were received making inquiries about the work and the prospect for permanent situations.

At Pythagoras Hall, where the 800 striking "typos" congregate, Chairman Smith, of the Strike Committee, expressed the belief that the employers would yield in a short time, because their business was injured and urgent work was being sent to other cities. The employers, he said, would suffer greater financial loss if the strike was not settled within a week.

Eight non-union compositors are said to have waited on J. J. Little, their employer, and asked him for a three years' iron-clad contract for the purpose of protecting themselves from discharge in the event of a settlement with the union printers. Mr. Little is said to have reserved decision in the matter.

A fat old man little after 10 o'clock last night. A fat old man man trotted puffing out of the Post-Office and yelled for it to stop. The driver grinned and kept his horses just about fifty yards ahead of the old boy, who began to pant out cuss words when he found that he could get no nearer. At Chambers street he gave up the chase, sat down on the curbstone and swore he'd have the driver discharged. 'I have lots of fun that way every night,' said the driver afterwards in a retrospective mood. 'About six times a night on my trip up to the stables some chump is sure to chase 'himself out of a side street and holler for me. Why don't I pick 'em up?
